VOLUME NUMBER XXXV. CANYON, TEXAS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1932 NUMBER 48

LEAP YEAR DAY IS PLANNED FOR SATURDAY, 27

MERCHANDISE PRIZES ARE TO BE GIVEN AWAY

License Numbers to be Placed in Store Windows; List of Prizes To Be Announced.

The Chamber of Commerce is planning a great Leap Lear Prize event to be held in Canyon on Saturday, February 27, it was announced Wednesday afternoon. The prize event will be held on a plan similar to the big Down Town night, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce just before Christmas. This Leap Year affair will be in recognition of the extra day in February and in 1932 as a result of Leap Year.

Merchandise prizes will be offered by merchants to be awarded to the lucky car owners whose car license numbers are displayed in the various stores. This will give every car and truck owner in the county an opportunity at winning one of the many valuable prizes to be offered.

Fred E. Wortham, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, announced that a list of the prizes to be offered would be arranged early next week and published in the next issue of the News.

Car and truck license numbers will be drawn and placed in the different stores offering prizes. The owners will be required to hunt for their license numbers and those who find their numbers on display in a store will be the winner of the prize offered by that store.

Complete details, together with the list of prizes will be announced next week.

P. J. Meyers Is Candidate For Co. Commissioner

P. J. Meyers announces this week that he is a candidate for the office of County Commissioner Precinct No. 1, Randall County. Mr. Meyers has lived in this county for 25 years and is well and favorably known throughout the county as well as in the city.

Though Mr. Meyers has never before asked for a public office, he has taken an active interest in all public questions and if fully conizant of the conditions and needs in the county, particularly in his precinct. He has been actively engaged in the supervision and construction of roads for 35 years and feels that he is as well qualified along this phase of county work as well as other branches with which the office of County Commissioner has to deal.

Mr. Meyers is a firm believer in good roads and believes in strict economy, not only in this line of the county's business, but in every other line. If elected he will devote his time to seeing that taxpayers' money is carefully and judiciously spent, and that no money be spent unless there is actual need for the same. "Efficiency means economy," he said, "and if I am elected, I feel that I am competent to handle the business so that it will mean a distinct saving to the county and at the same time keep the roads in a good state of repair. Hard work and economy mean more now to the people than they have in many years, in Randall county no less than in other localities."

Mr. Meyers states that he will attempt to see all of the voters in Precinct No. 1 during the coming weeks and will appreciate their support in the Democratic primary on July 23.

Rural Schools Are In Good Condition Says Judge Orton

"The rural schools are in good condition financially," reported County Judge S. B. Orton this week. Every rural school in the county, of which there are 19, will run the allotted 9 months with the exception of 2 or 3, which have spent considerable amounts of money on improvements. None will have less than an 8-months term, said Judge Orton.

The rural schools are in much better shape than they were at this time last year, and will not have to borrow a cent to meet all expenditures at the required time. The payment of back taxes, induced by the exemptions allowed by the school board, have placed the schools in an independent condition.

H. K. Stanfield Seeks Place as Representative

H. K. STANFIELD

H. K. Stanfield, former county attorney of Potter county, announces his candidacy for the office of representative in the lower House of the state Legislature for the 123rd district, which is composed of Armstrong, Carson, Deaf Smith, Oldham, Potter and Randall counties.

Mr. Stanfield since April, 1922, has been actively engaged in the practice of law in the Panhandle, having served as county attorney of Potter county. He has also engaged in wheat farming and stock raising in the Panhandle, which varied activities lead Mr. Stanfield to feel that he knows and understands the difficulties, problems and needs confronting the people of the Panhandle of Texas today. He feels that due to the prevailing and distressing economic conditions of the country today, the Panhandle as never before needs active, aggressive and interested representation in the state legislature, especially in the lower House of our law making body, for the reason that all tax legislation has its origin there.

Opposes Meddling.

Mr. Stanfield states that he is opposed to state, as well as national, intermeddling in local affairs, which he feels should be left to the discretion of each community. Among other measures,

Miss Mary White Conducts Scout School Here

Miss Mary L. White, member of the National Council, Girl Scouts of America and director of the Cactus Region, is conducting a training course for girl scout leaders here this week.

Twenty-five girls are taking the course which is being given each afternoon at 4:30 in the Main Building of the College. Miss White is conducting the work along the patrol and court-of-honor system so that each student will know how to organize a scout troup, how to conduct hikes, contests and other features of the scout program. She is also giving them intensive training in home craft which is an important feature of the program. "It is interesting to note," said Miss White, "that 70 per cent of the Merit Badges awarded in the United States last year were given in home craft work." The purpose of the whole program is to train the girls so they may devote their leisure time to profitable play and Scout craft is planned so that it will supplement the schools, churches, and homes.

Miss White addressed the Palo Duro Post of the American Legion Monday p. m., and that organization voted to assist in every way in promoting the school. The training course is being given in colleges over the Cactus Region which is composed of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma. Four schools, including the one here, are now in progress over the region.

During the summer Miss White is in charge of Camp Mary White near Cloudcroft, New Mexico. Several Canyon girls have attended this camp.

Miss Lolis Goodrich, Miss Jean Moore and Miss Thelma Brummett are carrying on the Girl Scout work in Canyon.

BUFFS TAKE THREE MORE LOOP GAMES

TECH VICTIM LAST NIGHT—PLAY AGAIN TONGHT.

A. C. C. Fall in Two Conference Games—Daniel Baker Coming for Final T. I. A. A. Test.

Sad Sam Burton's Buffaloes continue to be the best team in West Texas, sweeping the Abilene A. C. C. series Friday and Saturday, and adding another game with Tech last night, making the 26th victory that the Buff basketeers have won from Tech in the past six years. In that period Tech has won 2 games.

Tech will play the Buffs again here tonight at 8 o'clock. The visiting high school basketball teams will be the guests of the Buffaloes in this game.

The game last night was one of the fastest played on the local floor this season, and the final score, 51-35, in favor of the Herd does not indicate the closeness most of the way through. While Tech was never in the lead excepting at the first when two baskets were made before the Buffs got started, twice the visitors evened the score, and on severarl occasions came uncomfortably close to the Herd's lead.

Winning their six straight conference victory by taking both of the two game series from the Abilene Christian College by scores of 50-32, 40-26, the West Texas Buffaloes are still holders of the 1000 percent marker, and the only team in the T. I. A. A. still at that standing.

These two games were by no means as easily taken as some fans had predicted. A. C. C. has a great ball club and is going to rank high in the conference standing when the final check up is made.

In the first contest the Wildcats stepped right out and hit the basket for two points to start the game rolling; but the Buffs soon got started and began clicking along and soared a head after a hard fighting attack. The half ended 29-14 with Comer, Buff forward, again leading the way.

The Wildcats never gave up at anytime, but gave the Herd a scare on several occasions. At the end of t he first game, the first game, the score ended 50-32 with Comer high scorer with 18 points, with Reynolds, A. C. C.'s flash forward second with 14, Fortenberry fourth with 13, and Colvin fifth with 11.

Trying every means possible the Wildcats made desperate attempts to down the Buffaloes in the second game. The Christians presented a brand of defense that was spectacular, but their efforts soon fell at the advance of the Buffs, with Fortenberry leading the way.

The half ended 24-13, and A. C. C. never threatened seriously. A. C. C. began gaining slightly on the

J. D. Barker Asks Re-Election As County Attorney

J. D. BARKER

J. D. Barker announces this week his candidacy for re-election to the office of County Attorney.

Mr. Barker is serving his first term as county attorney and has done the work of the office faithfully and efficiently. In making his announcement for re-election, Mr. Barker says concerning his record in office: "I have served my constitutents to the best of my ability on every occasion that has presented itself. I promise to continue this service with the increasing ability which greater experience affords, if I am re-elected. I shall appreciate the serious consideration of every voter in Randall County."

G. B. Heath Offers For Office County Commissioner No. 1

G. B. Health has authorized the announcement of his candidacy for the office of County Commissioner, Precinct No. 1.

His statement is as follows:

"I am asking for this ofifce bebause I feel that I am competent of handling it in a way that will be appreciated by the taxpayers of the precinct.

"I have spent many years on highway and county road work, working directly with the commissioners, and through the commissioner's office. I have made a very close study of this office for years, not only in this county, but in other counties over Texas; and the study that I have made was not only on the road work, but also on the many other duties of the county commissioner.

"I realize that this office is one of extreme importance, if not the most important of the several different offices in the county.

"If elected to this office, I will give a sufficient amount of my time to personally look after all work that is done in the precinct. If it requires all my time to do this, I will gladly give it; and will add that if the work is looked after as it should be, it will take most of one's time. There can be much said about the amount of time to be spent by the commissioner, and then not mean much; but if the voters of this precinct

Memorial Service On Court House Lawn, Monday

Honoring the war dead of Randall County and George Washington, "the father of our country," the American Legion and Auxiliary will hold a memorial service around the Doughboy momunment on the court house lawn Monday afternoon, Feb. 22, beginning at 4 o'clock.

Frank R. Phillips, representing the Legion, will give a talk about George Washington, his life and influence on the American people, and Mrs. T. H. Knighton, as representative of the Auxiliary, will speak.

It was hoped that trees might be planted in memory of all who served their country from Randall county, but owing to a shortage of trees only six could be obtained. These trees are furnished by the State Forestry department through the State Department of the American Legion.

HIGHWAYS 9-33 ARE APPROVED BY COMMISSION

CONTRACTS TO BE LET FIRST ON HIGHWAY 9

Will Require 140 Working Days to Finish One Project; Bids Are Now Called.

According to information received this week by County Judge S. B. Orton the paving project on Highway 9 south from Canyon to the Swisher County line and Highway 33 west from Canyon to the Deaf Smith County line have been approved by the Sate Highway Commisison and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads. "But," stated Judge Orton, "due to the fact there is so much highway work requested at the present time, the State Highway Department has authorized the advertising of only one project for letting at the February meeting."

It was decided that Highway 9 south should be paved first and accordingly a contractors notice for bids is being published in this issue of the News. The contract for the highway west will be let at same subsequent date, probably in March, said Judge Orton.

Highway 9 will be paved with a base of crushed rock, 15 inches deep and 22 feet wide, 16.612 miles in length. The work will be done by local men in so far as it is possible. According to calculations it wil require 32 trucks, each hauling 10 loads a day to complete the hauling of crushed rock. E. H. Gohmert, resident engineer, will oversee the work for the state.

It is expected that following the letting of the contract work on highway 9 will begin the latter part of March.

Mrs. Sue Donald Announces For County Treasurer

In the regular column of this newspaper assigned for announcements of various candidates whose names will appear on the ticket for the Democratic primary to be held July 23rd, will this week be found the name of Mrs. Sue Donald, who announces for the office of County Treasurer.

Mrs. Donald has resided in Canyon for many years and is well and favorbly known by the citizens of the city as well as by most of the residents of the county.

To the News reporter, Mrs. Donold had the following to say relative to her candidacy:

Realizing the importance and the duties of the office to which I aspire, I am asking the citizens of the county for their support of me in this campaign. I feel that I am thoroughly qualified by reason of training and business experience. I have had advantage of good general training and thorough courses in accountancy and business affairs. My experience in business matters has been extensive, having been connected with various business concerns in Canyon and other cities for a number of years.

"If the citizens of Randall County will investigate my qualifications I shall be pleased, and such suport as they choose to give me will be thoroughly appreciated. I shall endeavor to see personally each voter in the county before the day of the election."

Community Chest Issues Call For Used Clothing

Appeals for clothing of all sorts have been received by the Community Chest the past few weeks and the supply on hand has been exhausted. Mrs. C. M. Dowlen, who is in charge of the Community chest work, has issued a call for used clothing, especially in children's garments, so that she may satisfy these calls.

The Community chest has been doing a great work this winter in caring for those in need. Twelve families have asked for aid in the past week.

Those who have garments which they would like to donate may deliver same to the chest headquarters at the Gamble Drug store, or call one of the following: Mrs. C. M. Dowlen, 468W; Mrs. J. Madison Daugherty, 127; or Mrs. H. O. Price, 273.

So "Ma" is in the race. Announcements were mailed to the newspapers from Austin Saturday, to be realeased this morning, but some of the papers could not wait and released the statement Tuesday morning. The announcement came as no surprise to the thousands of Texas voters who have been watching the manueverings of Jim Ferguson the past few months. For a time it looked certain that both Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, both ex-governors of Texas, would be in the race for congressman-at-large. It was taken for granted that possibly both of them would have been elected should they have made the race. However, a few weeks ago Mr. Ferguson announced that they would not run for the congressional job, as there was too much work to be done in Texas. Barred by impeachment from holding office in Texas, Jim then stated that if there were a sufficient number of poll taxes paid he would enter Mrs. Ferguson's name as a candidate for Governor. Poll tax payments have come up to expectations. It is certain that Ferguson's friends are armed with the necessary credentials to cast a vote. Sterling's friends should not take the Ferguson entry as a joke. Far from that. With the state of Texas in the worst financial condition that it has been for many years, conditions are ripe for the typical Ferguson campaign and one that will bring into the Ferguson fold more votes than ever before. This is not going to be an off year politically in Texas. When Jim Ferguson hits the trail, the fur will fly, and with it big hunks of skin from the anatomy of Sterling and his friends.

John Garner continues to make a record as Speaker of the House of Representatives. He is whipping through legislation in a manner not accomplished before in a decade. This is bringing favorable comment for Mr. Garner as a possible candidate for President. Texas appreciates this honor very much, but there is danger in this early display of presidential interest, so far as Mr. Garner and the speakership is concerned. Mr. Garner is sawing wood and saying nothing, but with all this talk, leaders in congress, who are always hopeful that the presidential lightning may hit in their neighborhood, are likely to become jealous and not give Mr. Garner the co-operation to which he is entitled. Even good Democrats are sometimes so ambitions personally that they would sacrifice the principles of the party to reflect upon the leader, in this instance, John Garner. We would like to see Mr. Garner the Democratic nominee. He is the type of man who would appeal to the people of America. But for the present at least, his friends should uphold his hands as speaker and push through the Democratic program of legislation, allowing the presidential nomination await the proper time.

We are going to have a beautiful court house lawn, and no more sheep tracks. The News has been calling attention to the unsightly paths across the lawn and the County Commissioners have been worrying what to do, as people just would not stop cutting across where the blue grass should be. Now we have a fence to stop trafifc. Not much of a fence, to be sure, and not good to look at, but sufficient to call the folks' attention to the fact that they are not wanted on the place where grass is supposed to be growing. When the grass gets started, and the folks change their habits, the fence will be removed. The lawn has been fertilized, and reseeded where the paths have trampled out the grass. Let every citizen assist the Commissioners in getting the court house lawn back in shape—as it was a few years ago. Everyone complains that they are not busy these days, and haven't much to do, so let's spend a fraction of a minute more going to the postoffice, by going around the lawn, and thus helping get the grass back in shape.

When three banks closed in a town in the course of a few weeks, and the people were without banking conveniences for five months, outsiders probably thought that the Chamber of Commerce should be done away with and the expense of its operation saved. A neighboring town, in this condition, but with far-sighted citizens who knew the worth and advantages of a Chamber of Commerce, decided differently, and strengthened the Chamber of Commerce work. That should be an example to Canyon. A lot of citizens, not realizing what they are doing, believe that this item of expense should be saved for themselves, and for the community. It would be very unwise at this time to lessen the activities of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce. Notable results have been accomplished and will continue to be accomplished, and at a very small expense. Let's renew our efforts for the Chamber of Commerce work.

Quanah Tribune-Chief: The Manchester (England) Guardian gives some impressive figures that argue in support of international agreemtnts for the outlawry of war. The World War cost the nations involved $500,000,000,000, an amount sufficient "to present every family in the United States, Canada, Australia, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, and Russia with a $2,500 house standing in a five-acre plot, with $1,250 worth of furniture, besides providing for each group of 20,000 families a hospital, university and public schools, including the salaries of teachers, nurses, doctors, and professors." And this does not take into account the heavier losses of the four years of war—11,000,000 men killed and 19,000,000 mutilated. Is it not time for the nations to speak, for the Church of Christ to declare in the name of the Prince of Peace that wars shall cease "until the end of the earth?'

President Hoover estimates that hoarded money, that which has been taken out of circulation and hidden in socks, oid tin cans and other places, amounts to a billion and one-half dollars. If this is true, then no wonder money is scarce. No wonder that circulation has been so greatly reduced. Business men in this section confirm the statement of great hoarding with tales of hundreds of dollars in gold and old sized bills coming into their stores the past few weeks. Placing money in substanial banks gives all of the people of the community an opportunity to use it, at the same time it is protected for the owners. Hiding money out is dangerous, not only to the owners, but to the community and country at large.

Tammany Hall has troubles all its own. A three way split between Roosevelt, Smith and Walker threatens to divest the Spotted Animal of much of its power, and take away the glories of casting a solid ballot for the candidate of its choice. In fact, if something doesn't happen, the New York vote will be hopelessly divided. The result is yet to be determined, and interesting developments are expected during the coming months. From all indications, Al Smith is determined to block the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt. What part Jimmy Walker will play, except to crack a few wise jokes, is yet unknown.

Congraluations to Deck Wells of the Wellington Leader. He has been chosen a member of the 1931 All-American Country Weekly Newspaper Team, composed of eleven country publishers of outstanding ability in America. Deck is the only Texan to make the team. His entry is his editorial column. Those who read weekly his witty and brilliant sayings will agree that Deck Wells deserves a place on this All-American team. The entire state and the Panhandle in particular will feel justly honored in Deck's selection.

We guess it's all right to complain about the nice weather—we complain whether it's good or bad. The thing about this nice weather business is that all of us complain, but never do anything about it. Whether the warm winter is good, or bad, cannot nevertheless take away the joys of having had one of the most pleasant and delightful winters we have experienced in the past 21 years on the Plains.

Flowers for the living. The Buffalo Band has improved a hundred percent this year. It is playing the snappy kind of music students want and demand. This year's band is the best the College has ever had—and it has had some good ones in the past—and the music puts life into everyone who hears it. Canyon appreciates the Band, and especially its new brand of music.

How much longer the Japs will continue fighting the Chinese is problematical. It seems like a wanton destriction of life and property. Japan is crafty and determined to get what she wants out of the deal. Other nations will probably let the Japs alone so long as they do not trespass upon their own rights. A war is going on, without the formal declaration of either nation.

The few who are hollering about the United States going over to whip Japan are ether too old to do any fighting, or else think they can make a million or so dollars out of the war. Those who were shot at during the world war are not asking that American blood be spilt over the Oriental squabble.

Records of Brooklyn Rookie Pitchers Mattingly, Gallivan, Jones, Mungo and Krider Indicate That the Flatbushers Are Sitting Pretty This Year

BY PHILIP MARTIN

PLENTY of the boys who master mind for the big league baseball clubs probably wish they were sitting where Max Carey is at Brooklyn this year. The reason is five rookie pitchers who are the most impressive youngsters that ever packed a duffle to a Florida training camp.

Impressive, in this instance, is just what I happen to mean. Earl Mattingly, Joe Gallivan, Art Jones, Van Mungo and John Krider are that, and how.

I wouldn't care to predict that they will stand Klein, Terry, Cuyler, Grimm, Bottomley, Hafey and other National League batting heroes on their respective ears this season. I would put down a little bet, however, that at least three of them will pitch winning ball regularly for the Flatbush flock this year.

The five kids look good, no mistaking, and here's why. They won a total of 83 ball games in 1931 and lost only 22. By manipulating these numbers, you run smack into the conclusion that 83 wins against 22 losses is almost 80 per cent pitching efficiency. And that's better than Derringer, Grimes and Hallahan gave the world champion Cardinals.

Every one of these youngsters pitched last year for Hartford, Brooklyn's Eastern League farm. Mattingly, Mungo and Gallivan were recalled by Brooklyn at the close of the Eastern League season. Now get a load of this:

Mattingly won 17 and lost 2, for an earned run average of 2.25—Mungo won 18 and lost 6, for an earned run average of 2.12—Gallivan won 14 and lost 4, for an earned run average of 2.21—Krider wor 16 and lost 4, for an earned run average of 2.29—Jones won 18 and lost 6, and made an earned run average of 2:10.

THEY'RE right-handers, every one. Mattingly at 27 is the oldest. Mungo is the youngest at 20. Gallivan and Krider are 24 and Jones is 22. If they make the grade, they all ought to be good for at least 10 years' service.

Jones is the midget. He's only 5 feet 11 and 165 pounds—poor boy! Mungo, the baby, is the biggest at 6 feet 2½ and 200 pounds.

By a strange coincidence, Brooklyn bought four of them from Macon, Ga. Jones was purchased from Hartford. Krider was bought in 1929 and Gallivan, Mattingly and Mungo followed him a year later.

Here's another peculiar coincidence. Four of them are southerners. Krider hails from Macon; Jones is from Kershaw, S. C.; Mattingly lives in Washington, D. C., and Mungo resides at Pageland, S. C. Gallivan's home is St. Paul, Minn.

Brooklyn has needed young mound talent for several years. Of her regular pitchers last season, only Bill Clark was under 30. Pea Ridge Day was 31; Joe Shaute, 30; Hollis Thurston, 31; Dazzy Vance, 37; Adolfo Luque, 40, and Jack Quinn must have been 90, although Brooklyn's records listed him at only half that age.

A busines man who had an important telephone call to put through finally interrupted a feminine conversation which seemed liable to continue indefinitely.

"Well," replied the business man. "I've come to the conclusion that I must be on the clothesline."

STRENGTH

The expression, "solid as a rock" was never more apt than when used to describe this bank.

We take pride in the age and the strength of this institution, but our policy is based upon the belief that the bank is old because it is strong—not strong because it is old.

Today, as always, leading business institutions of our city are affiliated with this strong safe bank.

THE GASOLINE RACKETEER IS ROBBING YOU

As Well As Your State

An enormous new racket has grown up in the past few years—the bootlegging of gasoline to escape payment of the state tax. Now an alarming amount of gasoline is being sold without payment of lawful tax.

Most motorists who buy bootleg gasoline buy it unknowingly. But know it or not, they are being robbed by the gasoline racketeers every time they buy from them!

The gasoline tax you pay belongs to you, and you should get it back from your state in the form of good roads. When you buy bootleg gasoline, you pay all or a part of the tax, too—but the racketeer pockets the money. You never get it back! And remember—if your state received all the money paid as a gasoline tax, it could well afford to lower the gasoline tax!

Knowing this, you naturally don't want to buy any bootleg gasoline. To be sure the money you pay as tax goes to your state, buy only gasolines sold under dependable, familiar brand names, backed up by reliable companies who make sure the state gets the tax. By sticking to familiar, reliable brands, you'll help banish racketeers.

TELEPHONE OFFICIAL VISITOR IN CANYON

Don Hunsaker district commercial superintendent of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Amarillo, was a business caller in the city Monday, looking after the business of his company.

Mr. Hunsaker states that his company is trying to take care of all of its employees during the period of depression by giving shorter periods of work, but keeping as many as possible on the pay rolls. The company believes it good practice for all business firms to give all of their people some work than to discharge those not needed, thus adding to the large army of unemployed. Part time jobs will keep most of the families in the actual necessities of life.

BANKS CLOSE MONDAY

The First State Bank and the First National Bank will be closed all day Monday, February 22, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of George Washington.—adv.

J. R. Edmonds District Agent, Visits Canyon

J. R. Edmonds, District Agricultural Agent, of College Station was in Randall county last week on a regular visit over the district looking over the work of county agents. While here visiting County Agent W. H. Upchurch he conferred with the county agent regarding loans to farmers from the money recently made available from the appropriation for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation set up by Congress.

Mr. Edmonds represented the Texas Extension Service in making loans from the St. Louis office of the Drouth Relief Commission last year. Representatives from the Panhandle, Mayor E. O. Thompson, John E. Hill and Grover Hill of Amarillo have been in Washington this week conferring with the Secretary of Agriculture who will have charge of the distribution of the funds available for farmers. They have requested that an office for handling loans of West Texas be located in the Panhandle.

A mass meeting of representatives of all counties in the Panhandle was held in Amarillo last Wednesday to discuss plans to get an office in this section. As a result of the meeting the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce voted to send Mayor Thompson and John E. Hill to Washington in an effort to help the farmers of this territory. The Cattle Raisers Association offered to also send Grover Hill, secretary of the association.

As soon as plans can be completed it is thought that application blanks for small loans to farmers of this section will be received. Rules for these loans will be released within a few days according to information which has been sent out from Washington.

The county agent, Sunday night, sent a wire to the representatives now in Washington setting forth the needs of the county. It is understood that these loans will be made through a local committee. This committee for Randall county is to be announced within a few days.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION

I am often asked about the unemployment situation. At the present time there are a number of men in town who must have work. I think that work on the Highway will probably start by the first of April. After that time everybody can get by, but from now until April the condition will be most serious.

People of the town who have any little jobs of any kind to be done can do much to relieve the situation by having the work done now. If you need work done, please phone me.

J. E. Jenkins Of Amarillo Visits Museum Tuesday

John Eliot Jenkins, painter and instructor of Amarillo, visited the museum of the Panhandle Plains Historical Society Tuesday. Mr. Jenkins, who painted the portrait of General Sam Houston which was presented by the State of Texas to the State of Virginia, is much interested in the history of the Southwest.

After inspecting the museum he said, "What a world of valuable material you have here and how you are suffering for want of room." He hopes that the Museum building will be erected within this year.

Mr. Jenkins has painted an authentic picture of the Adobe Walls battleground as it appeared in 1874; he carefully went over the grounds with Mrs. Olive K. Dixon, followed the lines of the buildings as indicated by the ruins, and after acquainting himself foot by foot with the territory he painted his picture. There is no other authentic picture of any kind of the place, according to Mr. Jenkins.

With Mr. Jenkins on his visit to Canyon were Mrs. W. D. Smiley and daughter of Fort Worth, Mrs. O. T. Maxwell and little son of Amarillo, and Mrs. S. P. Britt of Shamrock.

New Sports Coats Are Useful and Chic

FUR, ARTISTICALLY APPLIED, FEATURES LATE MID-WINTER COATS WHICH SUPPLY EXOTIC NOTE TO PRACTICAL WARDROBE

BY HARRIET

LATE winter is making us see the difference between the sports coat and the dress one as we did not see it last year.

The sports coat today is a forerunner of the furless coat that will be good this spring. It has a lot of new tricks to make it not only a utilitarian garment but one that will set a woman up.

The newest sports coat is the rosy beige one, with more rose than beige to its coloring. One of these is made of reversible material, with the inside brown. It has a new type of collar, a roll shawl one that fastens near enough the neck, in a round effect, to make it look very different and new when closed.

The pockets are new, little intricately cut ones that are patch pockets but very ornamental, too.

For dress up or for the woman who has plenty of utilitarian clothes but has a yearning to look fragile and exotic at times, there are some perfectly stunning mid-winter coats.

Most of these use fur. But few of them do it in stereotyped fashion. The trick this winter is to have fur that is put on with an artistic hand. There are coats with little fur yokes and sleeve tops. There are others with collars and little vestees of furs and touches about the elbows of the sleeves.

Patou does an exciting thing with a green velvet ensemble that is being shown now. The long coat has a mink gilet stole that extends below the belt both front and back. The mink wraps around the neck with a scarf end behind and fashions both sides of the front of the waist portion and all of the back. It is just as if a little sleeveless fur jacket were slipped over the sumptuous velvet coat.

The coat's sleeves are particularly beautiful with this fur trimming. They are loose and grow looser at the elbow, with a shirred effect below the elbow for the cuff. They are long and regal in the way they fall over the gloves.

With this there is a little beret of green suede to match the color of the coat.

The long coat in the green velvet ensemble shown at left has a mink gilet stole that extends below the belt in front and back. The mink wraps around the neck with a scarf end behind. A green suede beret matches the color of the coat. At right is a sports coat of rosy beige, with a brown reverse side. Note the unusual pattern of the pockets.

The COUNTY The COLLEGE And CANYON

CHAMBER OF COMERCE

FRED E. WORTHAM, Secretary

The Commissioner's Court is to be commended for its work in an effort to make the Court House Lawn a place of beauty. Every citizen should cooperate by abiding by the requests of the court and not walk across the grass. There is no reason why Canyon cannot have just as beautiful a court house square as other cities in the Panhandle.

The increasing number of fires in Canyon during the past six or eight months will have its effect on the key rate on fire insurance which will affect the entire city. Every person should cooperate by doing everything possible to prevent fires. It not only means a loss to a person who loses his peroperty by fire, but has its effect on the entire city.

Let's join in helping to entertain the visiting high school basketball teams in Canyon this week end. There are something like 300 boys from counties over the Panhandle here for the Interscholastic League tournament. All of these boys are prospective students of the West Texas State Teachers College. The impression they gain of Canyon now will have a big bearing on their choice of the college they want to attend.

Canyon is the host city and her citizens should extend every courtesy possible to our visitors.

The response received in reply to the letter sent out by the Chamber of Commerce several days ago has been very gratifying. However the response is not as large as had been hoped for, and those who have not sent in suggestions in regard to a working program for the organization for another year, are urged to do so within the next few days.

The Chamber of Commerce needs the support of every citizen in Canyon. Its policies are directed for the benefit of the community as a whole and its directors need the cooperation of everyone. This is YOUR Chamber of Commerce.

These brief comments are interesting:

"The man who, expending his energies wholly on private matters, refuses to take part in public affairs, pluming himself on his wisdom in minding his own business, is blind to the fact that his own business is made possible only by the success of all."—Herbert Spencer.

"My experience has been that out here in the West, every time you find a great community, you find a great Chamber of Commerce."—Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific Railway.

Why Every Citizen Should Belong to the Chamber of Commerce.

1. Because no other organization can enlist so many of the ablest men of the city in service for the community.
2. Because it helps create and express sound opinions on questions affecting the welfare of the city.
3. Because it unifies the public spirit of the city and breaks down sectional selfishness.
4. Because it links the city with others in great business and patriotic movements.
5. Because it holds up an ideal of civic development that tends to the encouragement of what is helpful and the elimination of what is harmful.
6. Because its activities and social life makes its members better business men and better citizens.
7. Because it is the gauge of the city enterprises, and reflects accordingly upon every citizen.

Casey Stengel, Brooklyn's New Coach, Should Be a Big Aid to the Flatbushers Judging by His Record and His Faculty of Getting Goats

BY PHILIP MARTIN

CASEY STENGEL is back. And if you don't remember Casey Stengel, there's no time like the present to inform you that he was the best "jockey" that ever "rode" a baseball player or umpire.

Charles Stengel—of course that's only his real name—will be with Brooklyn as a coach this year. That ought to seem like home to him He spent five of his best playing years there. Max Carey, new manager of the Brooklyn outfit, recently signed Stengel to help out with the chores around the Flatbush orchard.

Casey is one of the hard guys still left in the national pastime. He was educated in the rough school that preceded the war. He fought with the best of them and got the goats of those he couldn't lick.

STENGEL left Kansas City, which gave him the nickname of "K. C.," in 1910 and drifted into and out of several small Illinois towns playing baseball. A Brooklyn scout saw him at Aurora and shipped him east to the home office. There they made a major leaguer out of him. He gave them six years of service from 1913 through 1918.

From Brooklyn he went to Pittsburgh, but the Pirates traded him to Philadelphia after one year. Then the Phils swapped him for something from New York. After he personally had contributed the winning punch to the Giants in the 1923 world series, they rewarded him by letting him out to Boston.

Stengel bobbed up at Toledo as manager of the Mudhens in 1925 and before long won a pennant. Toledo soon became a haven for old, broken-down ball players and ere long the Mudhens crumbled. They finished in the American Association basement—not to mention the hands of the receivers—last season. Toward the end, Casey couldn't stick his head outside the Toledo dugout without an umpire jerking a thumb in the direction of the clubhouse. He was never a bosom friend of the arbiters.

Stengel deeds are still fresh where major league gossip is spread. He was a thorn in somebody's side at all times. During the New York world series he pricked the thick skins of Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel and Waite Hoyt. In between times he fought a little, although he apparently couldn't whip anybody.

Charley Weinert of the Phils kayoed Casey with one punch. Adolfo Luque, the quick-tempered Cuban pitcher, laid Stengel with a punch. But Casey gained monetary revenge for that one, for Luque drew suspension and the Giants were able to beat the Reds out of a pennant.

Charles (Casey) Stengel, who has been appointed coach for Brooklyn this year, is shown above as he appeared when he played with the New York Giants in 1923. Inset is a closeup of him.

Mrs. Green Talks In Amarillo On A.A.U.W. Program

"Vocations" was the subject chosen by Mrs. Geraldine Green for her subject to the assembly of the Amarillo High School Friday morning, when the Amarillo branch of the American Association of University Women conducted a program on vocational guidance for women. Mrs. Green was introduced by Mrs. Lois Tyson McCormick, an A. A. U. W. representative.

In her address, Mrs. Green said, in part:

"There is a great need for authentic information on the constantly changing occupatioal status of women. Once we trained girls for what they wanted to do. Now we train them for the work they are capable of doing. And, because most fields are overcrowded every girl should have as many as three things in mind, for which she is fitted by the time she leaves school.

"There is mighty little difference between men and women but what there is is significant. Some years ago women went out after a vocation with a militant attitude. They had to for they were pioneers.

"There will always be women who take a vocation with a temporary attitude. They are simply waiting for a marriagable man to come along. Most women, whether consciously or unconsciously, fall into this class, and upon them rests the responsibility for American women being classed as practical. But today, and it will undoubtedly be even more true in the future, these two attitudes are going out of style. Too many women must help their husbands to support and educate their families; must suport themselves, if single, their parents, their brothers and sisters. More and more the single women goes to her job with the same attitude as a man. And for the married women the vocation has three great advantages. Financially, it is a necessity. For the woman whose house won't keep her busy, it is emotional outlet, and for the middle-aged grandmother with too much leisure a vocation is a blessing indeed.

"It takes an exceptional woman to balance a home, a husband, and a career. The husband and the home are always getting in the way of the career, and the career in the way of the home and husband. But the future is going to demand many of these exceptional women, and the high school girl of today might just as well study for the position."

As a matter of fact, nothing could make times harder than using hard times as an alibi for not paying your bills.

As an unusual thing, a committee of five consists of one man who does the work and four others who stand by and pat him on the back.

Every now and then you hear of a motorist finding out that a telephone pole makes a poor substitute for tight brakes.

It is, this day in time, possible to judge a man by the dog he keeps, but not by the dog he puts on.

Yearling Herd To Meet Clovis Friday Night

Clovs high school's victory march of recent weeks may hit a snag with the influx of the Yearling herd from West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon, Friday night for a non-conference game in the high school gym.

The Wildcats have fought their way through the strongest teams of New Mexico to twelve victories this season and are strong favorites to capture the district championship. Their victories include a decisive win over the defending New Mexico state basketball champions, Forrest high school Pirates.

The game with the Yearlings Friday night will undoubtedly be the most colorful non-conference display of the season. The fifty-piece high school band and pep squad of 100 girls will perform during the game.

Dr. Albert Barnett Is Main Speaker on Amarillo Program

Dr. Albert Barnett made an address at the opening of the office of the county superintendent, Laura V. Hamner, a W. T. ex, in the new Potter County court house, Saturday afternoon, February 6. He called attention to the fact that Potter county is making rapid progress in education, that there was being developed in the county a consciousness that anything of an educational nature could scarcely be too good for the children. In support of this comment he pointed out that a high grade of college trained teachers were being employed at salaries which attracted the best of teachers.

It is Dr. Barnetts' opinion that Potter County ranks high in her school system. She runs full nine-month terms, and the seventh grade pupils are admitted to Amarillo Schools; and the work of the students displayed at the Texas State Teachers Association compared favorably with the best. He stated that this progress was aided much by the Potter County's progressive Board of Education which is greatly responsible for well planned programs of education.

JUDGE TRULOVE TO SPEAK

Judge Otis Trulove of Amarillo will speak at the College Assembly Tuesday, February 23, as one of the George Washington Bi-centennial programs which will be given from time to time during the year.

The man who is going to get along the best this year is the one who forms a merger of faith, hope and charity.

Canyon Eagles Are Defeated By Pampa Team

In return engagements with the Harvesters, the Eagles dropped all three. The Eagles lost 33-13, they had previously defeated the Pampans, the girls went under to the tune of 20-10, and the substitute Eagles found it impossible to win.

The Eagles were seriously handicaped by the absence of "Red" Harden, star forward, who has been ill for several days. His berth was ably, but not successfully filled by Cone and Thomas.

The Eagles were never able to make a good showing. The Harvesters however were in wonderful form. Their center, Marbough, was the high point man, scoring 12 points. He was crowded by Enloe forward with eleven points.

Wooten, who has recently won a place as a regular, outplayed his fellow Eagles and showed up well with the Harvesters. He scored 6 points.

None of the girls on either side were able to score much so the score was kept down. Rose and Robinson of the Harvesters made the most points, 9 each. They were closely crowded by Moore, from Conyan, who scored 8 points. Evidently the coaches were not satisfied with the playing for each side made frequent substitutes. Eleven different players were used on the purple and white squad and 9 were on their opponents team.

—Buffalo Evening News

Harvey C. Couch named director of Hoover's Reconstruction Finance Corporation. If the other directors find the going too hard, they'll have someone to fall back on.

A Chicago paper cites probably the only instance of a sober man pasing out from a rush of beer to the head. He was beaned by a falling bottle of home brew.

Chapel

A talk of unusual interest was made by Dr. C. A. Pierle on the Chinese question in chapel Tuesday. Dr. Pierle has lived in China for ten years and thoroughly understands the Chinest question.

China is disabled financially because of the huge debt incurred by the "Boxer Uprirsing." In 1900 Germany started a railroad in Manchuria, which was then under the control of China. Germany made a large fortune as a result of this investment.

Japan wants Manchuria because it is one of the richest regions of the world. The second largest deposit of iron ore in the world is in Manchuria. There are vast forests and very valuable waters, which contain many fish. If all of the gold of Manchuria was brought to the surface there would be more than all the rest of the gold in the world. There is a great plain which is more level than the plains of Texas. The soil of this plain is very fertile and well watered. The most important crops of this plain are kafir corn, wheat, oats, potatoes, opium and soybeans. The soybeans are probably the most important because the people of China use them so many different ways. Oil from these soybeans is used in the daily rations of many Americans.

The immediate cause of the trouble between the Chinese and Japanese was the capture and murdering of a group of Janpanese soldiers by Chink bandits. The Japanese said that China had to control her bandits or she would control them for her. As a result of this threat by Japan China boycotted all Japanese goods from her ports. As Japan depends on her trade to finance her government and a large majorirtyr of it is with China, she has lost $143,000,000 worth of trade in three months. Japan sent her army to Shanghai, the principal port of China, to force the Chinese to use her goods. This army captured Shanghai and the surrorunding territory, damaging interersts of the United States and other world powers. The United States has sent a group of soldiers and a small fleet of battleships to Shanghai to protect her interests there.

This question which is very hard to understand, was made very clear by Dr. Pierle. Everyone enjoyed the talk to a great degree.

OUTSTANDING NEEDS

Every comunity needs a few outstanding qualities among its people if it is to prosper, and Canyon is no exception to a rather hard and fixed recipe for community development.

We need above all things, stability—the will power to determine that which is right and for the best, interest of the community as a whole and a determination to see that only right prevails.

We need a unanimity of purpose—the ability and desire to agree upon what is wanted and then go after it and get it.

We need aggressiveness—for without it the finest ambitions come to naught and stagnation and indolence leads to dry rot.

We need loyalty—for without it we will enrich commercial interests at distant points and improverish our people at home.

Some places grow and thrive because of their natural advantages, and others improve their conditions only through the energy and perseverance of their citizenship.

Our future as a community depends on whatever we as a people are willing to forget selfishness and greed and put ourselves into the movement for a bigger and better Canyon.

Dr. Harris Cook Gives Vocation Talk to C. H. S.

Dr. Harris M. Cook, Dean of Men of the West Texas State Teachers College, gave a very interesting as well as instructive talk on choosing a vocation to Mr. Carruth's and Mr. Barker's Home Rooms Wednesday, Feb. 17.

He gave several points on how to choose a vocation to suit oneself. He did not talk on one vocation because he stated that everyone's ideals differed, and that one vocation would not suit more than two or three of the audience.

MARY DOWLEN ENTERTAINS

A party quite appropriate for the season was given at the home of Mary Dowlen. When the guests arrived, many games were started, of which "Knocking for Love" was found the most popular.

After the activities, refreshments consisting of punch, cookies and candy hearts were served to the following: Rosa Cash, Vara Edwards, Vera Koger, Lee Christine Cousins, Madelyn Bull, Myrtis Wright, Helen Hardman, Virginia Bull, Maxine Wallace, Alberta Hammond, Leona Hardman, Sarah Bonnie Bourn, Armor Lee Greenfield, Wesley Wiliams, Francis Elliston, Edwin Whitfield, Hugh Whitfield, Marshall Rockwell, Dan Gerald, T. V. Slack, Herbert Slack, Jimmie Ford Burgan, Arthur Hardman, Hugh Douglas, Loyd Buckhannan, and Alton Donnell.

CO-OPERATION AT ALL TIMES

It is interesting to note that of all the plans that have been suggested to aid the farmer, only one has been given anything like unanimous approval by experts—the farm co-operative.

Co-operation, both in producing and marketing, must be the dominant factor in any program designed to restore prosperity to agriculture. It is sound in economic principle—a fact that has been proven by American manufacturing industries, as well as by the long-established farm co-operatives—and it produces definite results.

It cannot be too often pointed out that the individual farmer, when he goes to sell his products, is at an inescapable disadvantage. He must take what is offered or fail to sell. But when he bands together with ten or fifty or a hundred thousand other farmers, the shoe is on the other foot. He has become "big business" himself, and he can bargain and make fair terms.

It is said that one barrier in the way of successful co-operatives, in the past, has been the virtual refusal of many farmers to co-operate when times are comparatively good. Then, when bad times come along, they are without the organization and machinery for taking decisive action. If the present severe agricultural depression has taught farmers that they must co-operate all the time and under all circumstances if they are to prosper, it will have done a great deal for the American farming industry.

Among the students who have been absent because of the flu are: J. L. Harden, Curtis Bell, Wilma Harris, Lois Rowell, Nan Johnson, Mae Beth Bishop, and Celestine McGee.

Maxine Middleton has been absent from school for several weeks because of illness.

Celestine McGee spent last week end with her grandparents in Tulia.

Slang played an important part in the negotations over President Hoover's war debt plan. It was used as a code.

The United States Ambassador, Fredrick M. Sackett, Jr. explained in a recent news dispatch that during his frequent transatlantic telephonic talks with Washington he regularly indulged in slang expresions because he thought that was a safe method of guarding against the possibility of being understood by any listener-in.

"When queried about a certain phase of the negotations, for instance, I rejoined. That doesn't amount to a hill o' beans.'

"Similarly, we used other slang phrases that would have been unintelligible to many people."

We wonder if Ambassador Sackett didn't take his tip from that story of O. Henry's in which an ambassador's mesages to his government were decodified by similar process.—The Interscholastic League.

Which brings up the thought that American laundrymen may soon be leaving for the war zone to clean up the situation, unless the whole thing's washed up before they get there.

With local Orientals all worked up about the far East problems, they can't keep their minds on their work. So perhaps it would be thoughtful, before sending shirts to the laundry, to tear the buttons off ourselves.

This year's political platforms will not be made so much to stand on as to get in on.

U. I. L. Basket Tournament To Be Feb. 18-20

The Interscholastic League Basketball Tournament for District One begins in Canyon today, and lasts until Saturday night when the final game will be played. The winner of this tournament will be the champion of this district. All of the important teams of the district will be entered. Among the favorites are Memphis, winner of the Globe-News tournament, Dalhart, champion of '31, and perhaps an important contestant will be the Golden Standstorm of Amarillo. Borger is good, too, for they recently defeated the Sandies.

The Eagles will be entered as will many other of the smaller teams, but because of previous games, they are not conceded an equal chance at the cup honors.

LIVING BY EXAMPLE

Much has been said and equally as much written about the supposed degreneracy of the younger generation of the present day.

In every age the same complaint has been made by the older against the younger generation. It seems to be a law of life.

In this day we hear much of the profligacy of youth. And we are very apt to judge the many by the misdeeds of the few.

Most of us, in pasing judgement, forget that young people are imitators—nothing more. They do largely the things that they have seen their elders do.

As one high school boy so aptly puts it, "When I see one of our leading citizens take a corner on two wheels I feel that, I have a right to do the same thing, and I want to try it with Dad's car."

The boys and girls don't realize their lack of experience. They grow up quickly, in their own estimation, as all parents know, and they feel they should have privileges that came with maturity.

There is no escaping the responsibility that goes with mature years.

No one can reasonably expect the imitators to rise above the level on which the imitated live.

Caps and gowns, which soon will make their appearance on the college campuses were originally worn for the practical reason of keeping warm, according to the Indiana University Daily Student. The custom originated in the middle ages, when school rooms were cold and hoods and gowns, patterned after those of religious orders, were worn by the teachers as extra protection.

The present inter-collegiate styles in caps and gowns were adopted in 1895, and are now followed by some 700 colleges and universities and numerous high schools.

Canyon High School seniors wear caps and gowns for economy and to emphasize the honor and dignity of their position.

Wallace R. Clark Tells of Trip to Washington, D. C.

Rotary Club members heard Wallace R. Clark Tuesday tell of his recent trip to Washington, D. C., where he served on a committee of eleven men from over the United States to make a study of the relation between the United States Chamber of Commerce and the local chamber of commerce. Mr. Clark represented the educational institutions of America, and was the only representative from the southwest who served on the committee, which was composed of business men, professional men and well known chamber of commerce executives.

The Rotary Club luncheon next week will be Father and Son day. All Rotarians will bring their sons or each member will invite some boy as his guest for the day.

Robert W. Foster, Levi Cole and Fred E. Wortham were introduced as new members of the Rotary Club.

Visitors present Tuesday were: F. A. Zinpfer, W. S. Norman, G. W. Scott, all of Amarillo, and S. B. Orton of Canyon.

Mr. Clark stated that officials of the United States Chamber of Commerce had come to the conclusion that this body was not properly functioning for the benefit of the local chambers of commerce over the country. To bring the U. S. Chamber closer to the various units, this committee of which he was invited to be a member was called to Washington to make recommendations which would strengthen this relationship. These men had all had experience in local and regional chambers of commerce, and knew the criticism which had been directed toward the parent organization. The recommendations of the committee will be submitted to all chambers of commerce within the coming month.

Mr. Clark stated that reports given indicated that never before had local chamber of commerce work commanded the interest and co-operation of the best citizens of all communities as it does today. Chamber of Commerce work has become recognized as a community necessity, and something in which every citizen of the community should participate and co-operate.

Speaking of the work of Congress, Mr. Clark highly praised Congressman Marvin Jones. He is one of the really big men in Washington, a tireless worker and one of the best chairmen in Congress. Mr. Jones is chairman of the important Committee on Agriculture, and is a recognized leader.

Two phrases are not heard at the capitol, "depression," and "prosperity is just around the corner." The leaders of the country recognize, states Mr. Clark, that with the present universal condition, there must be a reorganization of thought as well as activity. America is looking for a new leadership to work out the problems of the times, and men who are today recognized as leaders will be unknown in a short while, replaced by those who are able to cope with the times. Congress feels the necessity of doing something to relieve conditions, but knows not what to do.

Popular Belief to Contrary, Washington Was Constantly Beset by Disease

WAS George Washington, whose two hundredth birthday anniversary is being celebrated this year, a perfect physical specimen?

Practically any American asked this question would give an affirmative answer. And that's perfectly natural, too. The public has a peculiar tendency to portray its heroes as perfect in every particular.

Washington was well over six feet in height, and "as straight as an Indian." He was the first athlete of his time, excelling at running, pole vaulting, throwing bars, hurling weights and pitching quoits; at horsemanship and wrestling.

He was a fine hunter, and possessed unusual strength and stamina. He lived in the open much of the time and exercised the greatest care and moderation in eating.

But, for all his athletic prowess and health habits, Washington was plagued throughout his life by a succession of ailments and other physical misfortunes such as rarely befall one man.

Washington's first recorded illness attacked him in his 17th year, when he went to bed exhausted by "agues and fevers." Four years later when he was on Barbados Island in the West Indies with his tubercular brother, Lawrence, he was stricken with smallpox. This left him, after a severe siege, with pitmarks on his face which he carried to the grave.

A few months after his return from Barbados, he suffered "a violent attack of pleurisy which reduced me very low."

George Washington, shown above in a reproduction of Gilbert Stuart's famous painting, was not the perfect physical specimen most people believe. He had far more than the average man's share of ailments.

In 1755, when he accompanied the luckless Braddock on his expedition against the French, he was so sick at one time that he had to leave his horse and travel by wagon.

Two years later, a violent attack of dysentery and fever compelled him to leave his troops and return to Mount Vernon to recuperate. For four months a high fever kept him weak and miserable, since he feared the approach of consumption.

In 1761 and 1768 he had suffered terribly from fever, probably malaria. And in 1786, after the Revolution and before he was elected president, he suffered a series of attacks of ague and fever.

Shortly after Washington became president, a malignant carbuncle on his thigh nearly ended his career. Later, on a trip to England, he caught a severe cold followed by influenza.

Death nearly claimed him in 1790, when he had "inflammation of the lungs," which today would probably be called pneumonia. In 1794 he was operated on for cancer. In 1798 he was again laid up with a fever, which cost him 20 pounds in weight.

And then, in December, 1799, came that fatal illness of which the story is so well known. He contracted a cold, was bled too freely and, in 48 hours, passed away.

Buffs Take

Buffs, and the Big Coach was forced to send a part of his first string back into the game. Fortenberry was high-pointer in this contest with 16, with Watkins, A. C. C. center, first on their side with 10 points.

In one phase of the games A. C. C. certainly beat the Herd and that was in throwing goals from the free throw line. Out of 28 free shots the Wildcats made 21, and out of 43 shots the Buffs made 18. Watkins, A. C. C.'s tall center made 8 out of 9 attempts at the basket when tossing for a free counter.

as set out in his platform, he favors consolidation of numerous local offices, with the view to economy and efficiency in the administration of our government.

Potter County has not had a representative in the state Legislature for 14 years.

The platform upon which Mr. Stanfield will submit his candidacy to the constitutents of this district is as follows:

Platform.

The reduction of public expenditures in our county and school administrations, more particular the tax assessing and collecting departments of our counties and schools.

Unalterable opposition to any move which will permit the use of state highway funds for retiring the indebtedness of older counties to the detriment of the Panhandle and its road building program.

The creation of an additional fish hatchery to be located in this the 123rd district, preferarbly in the Palo Duro Canyon.

Experiment Station.

The creation and establishment of an experiment station featuring the scientific development of agriculture and animal husbandry under conditions peculiar to the Panhandle.

Legislation which will bring about the consolidation of the affairs of state, centralizing the many existing departments under fewer heads, thereby eliminating many existing expensive and unnecessary departments, commissions and boards.

The support of a measure calling for an early redistricting of the state of Texas which will give to the Panhandle and West Texas the two additional representatives in Congress to which our population entitles us under the census of 1930.

Fee System.

The support and furthering of legislation which will eliminate and abolish the present fee system, which has so long been a burden to the taxpayers and a corrupting influence in the administration of justice.

The fostering and furthering of legislation which has for its purpose the maintenance and support of the West Texas State Teachers College, especially in regards to improving and increasing the teaching personnel and adding to the physical expansion of said college, such buildings and equipment as shall be necessary in the very near future from the instruction, training and qualifying of teachers for our public school system.

The reorganization of our tax system whereby the unfair burden now borne by the home and land owners would be partially shifted to the shoulders of those who have thus far escaped txation by investing their money in properties of an intangible nature, which have thus far escaped their just portion of taxation. I refer to notes, bonds etc.

State Bond Issue.

Opposition to any state bond issue for any purpose whatsoever, but not opposed to county road building improvement program. Let's keep Texas out of debt.

To foster and further legislation which has for its purpose the using of part of the gasoline tax to retire county road bonds in counties where the taxes are paid and the roads are built.

The promotion of stock raising.

The support and furthering of legislation which has for its purpose the coordination of our educational institutions of higher learning, and termination of the duplication and rivalry in state colleges.

A strict regulation of our transportation systems which will make the same subservient to the public welfare.

Opposition to all class legislation and laws which will permit the taking of property without due process of law.

G. B. Heath Offers

see fit to elect me, I will be on the job when it starts and will be there when it is finished. I will not send men out to work, but will go with them. I will promise you one thing that when a man draws his money for work, he can say that he earned it.

"I stand one-hundred per cent for the use of home labor on all jobs, whether they are under the county's supervision or under the supervision of the State. The people are entitled to the benefit of the money that is spent by the county, on state work or county work. The policy has not been enforced in the past; I am sure that you will agree with me on this, as the county fed a number of men this past year when there was a large job of work going on in the county at that time, and not one of these men could get work on the job.

"I stand for a system of good roads, and will, at all times, do my best to keep them in first class condition. There is plenty of money in this precinct to keep up the roads if it is kept in the precinct and handled right. I know whereof I say this: there is no reason why the expenses should not be cut when labor and material is as cheap as it is: and the expenses will be cut.

"I have lived in the county a number of years, and feel that I know the needs of the precinct and county and will do my best to work with the other commissioners in a way that will be for the best interest of the taxpayers.

"I expect to see all voters before the July election, but if I miss anyone, I take this means of asking you for your vote and support. It will be greatly appreciated."

FENCE IS BEING BUILT TO PROTECT COURTHOUSE LAWN

A fence is being erected around the lawn at the courthouse this week for the purpose of protecting the lawn which has been reseeded with grass in those places that have been worn into footpaths.

The fence is not to be a permanent structure but is designed to keep people from walking on the grass this summer and disfiguring the lawn.

COLEMAN RETURNS.

O. L. Coleman was here over the week-end from Madison, Wis., where he has been in government work for the past two years. His work has been discontinued in that state, and he is being transferred to Texas. He left Sunday for San Antonio where he will be assigned work, which he hopes will be in the neighborhood of Canyon, which has been his home for a number of years.

Do your shopping in Canyon.

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!
